Today again we are offering you quite a price range of opals and most of it from Andamooka which is said to be the most healthy opal field in the world. Of course the people who say that are the Andamooka miners but it is very very healthy opal, it seldom cracks. One miner used to come and see me all the time and I would argue about the price and say it was expensive and he would always say:

"Andamooka no go crack."

He did have a point there.

There is a lovely Crystal stone for only $100, it's approximately 7cts in the rough. It will face just beautifully, in fact it has been virtually faced off. It's the right shape for a pendant so you are not paying much per carat there.

The small stones for only $35/oz are a bargain. Many of those stones, if some of you are able to cut them will come up very very nicely, sure they are small but at the price of only $35 is just a joke.

I really like the 11.6oz parcel for only $990, there are some beautiful opals in there. The large stone weighs 6oz by itself.

There is a packet with 5 large stones in it that has been faced off from Andamooka, it is only $650, that's a beauty also.

I just love the faced stone from Sandhill for $1,288 it is just chocablock full of colour. As you roll it around you see every colour right across the face.

There is another stone from Sandhill from the same mine at $1,911 it's huge, it's about 1" square, you can just see from the side all the reds and greens jumping out. What a pleasure it would be to stand next to you as you took the top off this stone. You'll be amazed.

I am not going to carry on about the rest of them. Your eye will tell you very well but don't miss the Andamooka blue green jelly, it probably would facet and that's only $50 for 8.3 grams.

Last but not least is the Lightning Ridge Black Nobbie that is showing beautiful blues across the top and one way you roll it it comes out a bit purple, it has a very very broad flash, it's a beauty 17.7cts. The shape is there all you have to do is clean it up a bit and put polish on it.

We wish you well and first in best dressed once again.

Regards

Murray
