On a recent trip to the Yowah Opal Fields I came across a magnificent stone. Heather can see a billy goat in it, the side of the opal that has the colour has been polished beautifully, it's smooth and has all the colours of the rainbow. It would make a wonderful paper weight and it's only $1,295. It's a like a "fiddle stone", something you would put in a pocket and when you are waiting for someone, sitting at a bus stop or just hanging about, you take it out of your pocket and look at it from all angles, seeing different things. The goat has a beautiful pair of horns I'll say that and he looks as if he is breathing fire and brimstone. He is a mean looking critter.

I can highly recommend this beautiful piece of Boulder Matrix opal. It's the sort of thing that will remain in a family for generations.
