

Dear Folk

Below is a picture of some jewellery that my wife wears. It is a dark base or black Lambina stone with a hole drilled in the top so that a finding can be used to clip into and over a strand of pearls or beads. We think it's a good idea. The black opal is not the finest in the world but it does get admired when it's worn.

Below are dark base/black opals from the same Lambina parcel. As you can see they are most moderately priced and very very affordable. All you have to do is tell us which one you want, we can probably arrange for a jeweller to make up a finding for you. This one is in 18KGP whatever that is.

I particularly like IMG_1939, IMG_1498, IMG_2224 the latter being just like Jan's, it's double sided and at only $100/ct is a gift. I tell you what, the first person that wants the one for $3,068 I'll give a discount of $568 that is it will only cost you $2,500 which is only $81.48/ct for a double sided black opal which is really one hell of a bargain.

Regards

Murray

PS my favourite choices are IMG_1498 $631 (with lovely green stripe, double sided) and IMG_555 $555 (double sided with bright blue greens), Heather
