Hi Folk

Today we have a very special deal for opal beginners or for opal dealers. I have 200oz of Lambina at only $7.50/oz. There are 5 or 6 stones to the ounce. Now I have been through this material and selected 24oz of the better material, most of it is dark base which is highly sought after. The 24oz is worth a minimum of $40/oz.

I will be happy to split the parcel into four lots of 50oz each. The 50oz will be made up of 6oz of the better material and 44oz of the regular material. So 50oz $375 but 6oz will be worth $240 so your 44oz will only cost you $135 or only $3.06/oz.

Heather has taken some lovely pictures of 4 individual stones out of the 24oz and these stones are numbered 1, 2, 3 or 4. The first person may pick stone 1, 2, 3 or 4, the second person will only have a choice of three but each of those stones will cut plenty. Stone #3 the one with the light green bar is huge, approximately 60mm x 50mm x 15mm thick. The bar is only thin but if you can face that bar you'll have a huge stone and I hesitate to say what it could be worth but you can see at least in one place how beautifully it is going to face, the bar goes right through the stone.

Later in the day if I have time I may offer you another couple of better grades from this $580oz parcel.

Look at the pictures below and there is one stone that I believe is worth a minimum of $400/oz, it weighs .34oz so that stone alone will be worth $136 so if you get that stone in your 6oz you will be getting your 44oz for nothing but only one person can get it. There are other very beautiful stones that will cut close to gems from the $40/oz, I will pay particular attention to each 6oz lot.

First in best dressed.

Regards

Murray
