Mintubi Red Gem .675oz OFFER 14 Nov 2014

Am I ever so proud to offer you this beautiful Mintubi Gem stone. You can see from the pictures that Heather has taken so well how it is definitely going to face. Every bit of the face will be full colour, such as the nature of the opal from this parcel. You can see how huge it is by looking at not only the dimensions we have given you but by the size it is over Heather's fingers as she was taking the pictures.

My friends opal like this will go down in history. There's very very very little that is found today if any. The miners just can't afford the fuel, the repairs and the high expenses of living in Mintubi. Even if they are prepared to gamble against all those things there is no new ground for them to mine, they have to push off old dumps and hope they can find some small amounts of unworked land or they can try and go down deeper and that seldom works because the old miners weren't stupid. If this stone is a bit rich for your blood email me and I'll find you a smaller one or one from a lesser grade from this beautiful parcel.

I can highly recommend this piece to you for a matching ring, earrings and pendant and maybe still a couple of small stones for your children

Regards

Murray
