Australian Opal Mines is really proud to be able to offer you one of the most brilliant Mintubi specimens we have ever seen let alone handled. This stone has just about every colour of the rainbow but if you put it in front of a child and asked them what colour it was they would probably say red. It is approximately 4.5" long x 1.75" wide and ranging from 1/8 - 1/4" thick. Heather has taken some lovely pictures as you can see but our camera is not nearly as good as your eye and you are going to see brilliant reds, golds, greens, blues. You are going to see broad flash, some .375" x .25" large. Under the broad flashes you can see a little pinfire. In fact if you wanted to clean some potch off, the back the back would be nearly as brilliant as the front. I love this piece, it weighs 1.8oz and its true value I wouldn't even guess at. You just won't see another piece like this. At $3,000 it's practically a gift. I think it should be left exactly as it is because most people get things like this and cut them up into mundane rings, earrings and pendants or the like which is really sacrilege. To be honest it renders me practically speechless.

There is not one museum in Australia with a piece like this but then again we don't offer large tax deductions for gifts to museums as they do in America. If you have $3,000 and you love opal this should be yours. I can't say anymore about it other than it is absolutely magnificent and I am proud to offer it to you.

Regards

Murray
