Sapphires and a lesson in mathematics OFFER

Folk

When I was with my grandchildren last week we came across a bloke with a sapphire mine. He was anxious to do some business, my three grandchildren were also to become partners with their grandfather so we secured a few inexpensive sapphires, we send pictures of them to you. The miner thinks we should be offering them to you for double what we are asking. To be honest with you I wouldn't know because I don't know about sapphires other than at this price you can't go wrong. I particularly like the brown gold sapphires for only $122 and the mostly blue sapphires when held up to the light look great, the parcel is $513 of course you can have it for only $500 because no-one likes 13's and I would even split the parcel in half if that would help you.

I am doing a mathematical exercise with the grandchildren and I know they are looking forward to it.

The eldest always says to me:

"Grampy have you sold our sapphires yet?"

So today I have had some time and we are offering them to you. There are not many and I don't expect them to last long so please be quick.

Regards

Murray
